REVISÃO DE LÍNGUA INGLESA

1º trimestre

Texto para as questões 1 e 2:

Trafficking in human beings

From Himalayan villages to Eastern European cities, people – especially women and girls – are attracted by the prospect of a well-paid job as a domestic servant, waitress or factory worker. Traffickers recruit victims through fake advertisements, mail-order bride catalogues and casual acquaintances.

Upon arrival at their destination, victims are placed in conditions controlled by traffickers while they are exploited to earn illicit revenues. Many are physically confined; their travel or identity documents are taken away and they or their families are threatened if they do not cooperate. Women and girls forced to work as prostitutes are blackmailed by the threat that traffickers will tell their families. Trafficked children are dependent on their traffickers for food shelter and other basic necessities. Traffickers also play on victims’ fears that authorities in a strange country will prosecute or deport them if they ask for help.

Trafficking in human beings is a global issue, but a lack of systematic research means that reliable data on the trafficking of human beings that would allow comparative analyses and the design of countermeasures is scarce. There is a need to strengthen the criminal justice response to trafficking through legislative reform, awareness raising and training, as well as through national and international cooperation. The support and protection of victims who give evidence is key to prosecuting the ringleaders behind the phenomenon.

Texto para as questões 5 e 6:

When we think of language, we think of the words and phrases that we use to communicate with each other. However, language also involves bodily expression: glances and smiles, clothing, gestures, facial expressions; an eloquent language of which we are not always conscious, but which casts light on our words, enriching them and sometimes even contradicting them.

Entertaining and pleasant, the Expression and Behaviour exhibition invites you to observe the behaviour of men and women placed in particular situations, and to influence their reactions.

Miniguide of Permanent Exhibitions. La Villette. Paris: Cité des Sciences et de l'Industrie. 1997. p. 38.

5- (UFRN) O processo de comunicação envolve, além da linguagem verbal, outros recursos expressivos. De conformidade com o texto, mencione quatro desses recursos:

6- Explique de que forma a linguagem não-verbal auxilia a comunicação entre os seres humanos.

According to Greek mythology, Atlas was a Titan of enormous strength. After being defeated by the god Zeus, Atlas was forced to carry the earth and the sky for an eternity. In depictions of Atlas, he is shown as a stooped figure carrying the globe on his shoulders. Because of his association with the globe, maps began to be decorated with this image of Atlas. Accordingly, the word "atlas" became a nickname for a collection of maps. Today, an atlas refers to any book that consists of a bound collection of maps. For example, an atlas can be made up of maps of the countries of the world or of the states of the United States. Sometimes an atlas will also contain graphs and charts with other statistical information about the culture, religion, climate, or government of the population of a given area.

7- Based on information in the passage, why did Atlas have to support the earth and the sky?

8- Make additions to the following remarks:

- a) Sarah would buy it and (they / either) _____
- b) Jane is doing her homework and (I / so) _____
- c) I was studying for the tests and (my sisters / too) _____
- d) My neighbors haven't bought a pet and (our sister / neither) _____

ADVERTISING NOWADAYS

People are starting to blame invasive advertising for the stress in their lives. A few generations ago, people encountered only a few dozen ads in a typical day.

Today, 3,000 marketing messages a day flow into the average North American brain. That's more than many of us can handle on top of all the other pressures of modern life. The fun image that advertising has traditionally enjoyed is now giving way to a much darker picture of advertising as mental pollution.

9- Segundo o texto, a percepção que as pessoas têm da propaganda está mudando. Como a propaganda era vista antes e como ela está começando a ser vista hoje?

10- A que se refere o número 3.000 mencionado no texto?

BONS ESTUDOS!
